

Mark A. Echo Hawk

Attorney at Law

Mark Echo Hawk maintains a general litigation practice as one of the founding partners of Echo Hawk Law Offices. After graduating from Idaho State University, Mark studied law at the J. Reuben Clark Law School at Brigham Young University. During law school Mark served as a law clerk for the Idaho Supreme Court. Upon graduating from law school, clerked for the Honorable Chief United States District Judge B. Lynn Winmill. He then worked as a litigation associate for Cooper & Larsen in Pocatello before starting Echo Hawk Law Offices.

Mark focuses his practice on Indian law. He represents tribal governments on various matters including gaming, land and natural resource use, jurisdiction, taxation, code drafting and revision, Indian education, tribal business affairs, tribal courts, and lobbying. He also maintains an active practice representing businesses with formation, litigation, and contracts. Additionally, Mark represents individuals with personal injury, and criminal cases. Mark now offers family law mediation services as an alternative to litigation of divorce and custody proceedings. He and his wife, Diana, have five children: Dallon, Cameron, Savannah, Mia, and Harrison. Mark enjoys running, hiking, archery, sports and coaching football. Mark speaks Spanish fluently.
