

Colleen Sullivan

Paralegal

- 10 years overall legal experience;
- Skillset includes multiple areas of law including: real estate, tribal, litigation, and business formation, development and certification;

In 2008, Colleen transitioned into the legal field when she took a position with Bingham Snow & Caldwell. While there, she worked mainly on real estate law issues such as title defense, construction litigation, foreclosures, and leasing. She also gained broad experience in commercial litigation, municipal law, and business entity formation. Because of Colleen's leadership abilities and attention to detail, she was entrusted with the responsibility of organizing and leading the transition of the firm to a paperless office.

Colleen joined Echo Hawk & Olsen in the Spring of 2016. She has already established herself as a valuable asset of the Echo Hawk & Olsen team. Colleen's duties as a paralegal are predominantly concentrated on assisting Mark Echo Hawk with his Indian Law practice. She has worked with clients on SBA 8(a) Business Development certification; drafting tribal government laws, regulations, and resolutions; preparing Indian Child Welfare Act pleadings and other pleadings and court documents; as well as a broad array of other tribal business economic development matters.
